OFFERS FREE SHIPPING AND GUARANTEED DELIVERY JUST IN TIME FOR THE HOLIDAYS

December 21, 2009, San Francisco, Ca. – Hot new computer accessory company Hard Candy Cases offers free shipping and guaranteed delivery by December 24 on website orders placed by 2pm PST on December 23 at www.HardCandyCases.com. Technology purchases for the holidays are at an all-time high, and eye-catching designs from Hard Candy Cases personalize and protect some of the most popular mini-mobile and Apple computers on the market.

A sweet gift for tech-heads and fashionistas alike, Hard Candy Cases new Bubble Shell design is available in six vibrant, candy-coated colors including black, blue, red, pink, white and clear, and feature a molded-in bubble design. The model specific, snap-on shells protect the MacBook 13" and MacBook Pro 13" white unibody, Asus Eee PC 10.1" 1005HA, and the Acer One 10.1" D250, as well as the HP Mini 10.1. The polycarbonate shells allow access to all batteries and ports, while also featuring a fully vented underside for complete heat dissipation. Rubber feet add friction on smooth surfaces – from coffee shop tables to airplane tray-tops.

Hard Candy Cases for Mac products are available for $49.95, while netbook and mini notebook models are available for $34.95. Orders can be placed at www.HardCandyCases.com.

About Hard Candy Cases

Founded in 2009, Danville, CA-based Hard Candy Cases is a new company from computer accessory veteran Tim Hickman, who started and ran Speck Products, an early entrant into the lucrative iPod case category. Hard Candy Cases merges fashion and function to distinguish and protect mobile computers from the wear and tear of daily use. Additional information can be found at <http://www.hardcandycases.com>.
